MODULES

Socio-historical: presents the active processes since the nineteenth century and still in taking place according to a varied context. It aims to suggest new developments that allow us to proceed with a proactive spirit.

Anthropological: deepens the meaning of sexual difference to illuminate how collaboration and reciprocity between men and women can be expressed in ecclesial contexts.

Ecclesiological takes up the salient points of the conciliar and post-conciliar Magisterium with regard to the laity and women, to open paths of creative, faithful and prophetic application.

Workshops: a space to explore and enhance aspects of oneself to favor the perception of one's masculinity or femininity (listening). Interpreting studied contents (Discerning). Personalizing a new way of relating and collaborating as a woman or man for-with-Christ in the Church (acting).
